6 HOW WE COLLECT PERSONAL INFORMATION

1. Gamuda will generally collect personal information directly from you.

2. In some instances, Gamuda may collect personal information regarding you via a third party or publicly available records, where:
 - (a) You have consented to the personal information being provided to Gamuda; or
 - (b) We are authorised or required by law to collect the personal information from a third party; or
 - (c) It is unreasonable or impracticable for us to collect the personal information directly from you and the information is not sensitive information.

7 COOKIES

1. As you navigate through our website/s or otherwise use our equipment, systems, and technology, we may collect and store information about your use of our website/s, such as which pages you visit, the time and date of your visit and the IP (internet protocol) or MAC (media access control) address assigned to your device. This is statistical data about users' browsing actions and patterns and does not identify any individual.
2. We may use 'cookies' on several of our website/s. Cookies are small text files placed on your computer by a web page server which may later be retrieved. A cookie enables us to recognise your computer without the need for a fresh request for you to register. The cookies do not allow us to collect personally identifiable information about you. Most internet browsers are set up to accept cookies. If you do not wish to enable cookies, you may be able to change the settings of your browser to refuse all cookies or to notify you each time a cookie is sent to your computer.

8 HOW WE STORE PERSONAL INFORMATION COLLECTED

1. Gamuda stores all personal information securely and restricts access to those employees who need access in order to mitigate who accesses such information and to limit access to persons required to have access in order to perform their duties and functions for Gamuda.
2. Personal information is stored electronically through either a database, tools with database functionality, hard drives, emails or it is stored in hard copy of documents.
3. Gamuda uses third-party providers to store personal information. This may result in personal information being stored in further jurisdictions other than those where it was collected.

9 SECURITY

1. Gamuda takes security of personal information seriously and takes reasonable steps, including physical and electronic security measures, to protect the personal information we hold from misuse, loss, unauthorised access, disclosure or interference.
2. However, Gamuda cannot guarantee the security of your personal information. The internet is not a secure environment. If you do use the internet to send us any information, including your email address, please be aware that it will be sent at your own risk.
3. Our websites and electronic communications may contain links to other websites operated by third parties. Unless expressly stated otherwise, Gamuda is not responsible for the privacy practices of those linked websites. The privacy policies that apply to those other websites may differ from the Policy, so we encourage individuals to read them before using those websites.

10 USE AND DISCLOSURE OF PERSONAL INFORMATION COLLECTED

1. Gamuda only uses personal information for the purpose for which it was collected (its "primary purpose") unless the individual has provided consent to another use or if required or authorised to do so by law.
2. The primary purpose could be any one of the following:

3. Where Gamuda uses or discloses personal information for a purpose other than what it was originally collected for ("secondary purpose") – Gamuda will keep record of such use or disclosure where required by applicable law.
 4. Gamuda will only use or disclose personal information for a secondary purpose as authorised or required by law.
 5. Gamuda may also use de-identified data for statistical and business purposes, such as reporting on gender, diversity, and inclusion.

11 DISCLOSURE OF PERSONAL INFORMATION OVERSEAS

1. Due to the global nature of the Gamuda business, Gamuda may disclose your personal information to recipients who are outside of the country where it was collected. This may include transfer of personal information to our related bodies corporate, including those located in Malaysia or our cloud storage or data storage providers that are located outside of Australia.
2. While an overseas recipient of information may not be subject to the same privacy standards as those in Australia, Gamuda takes reasonable steps to ensure that persons and organisations to whom we disclose personal information are bound to protect the privacy of your personal information and do not breach the privacy obligations relating to your personal information. Gamuda also ensure that any third-party providers who have access to your personal information adhere to applicable privacy laws and take appropriate measures to protect, limit, and use of that information.

12 ACCESS TO PERSONAL INFORMATION

1. You may request access to the personal information Gamuda holds about you by contacting our Privacy Officer using the contact details provided below. Your entitlement to access your personal information is subject to applicable laws.
2. Your request for access will be handled as soon as reasonably practicable. If we refuse your request to access your personal information, we will provide you with the reasons for the refusal where we are required by law to give those reasons.
3. For security reasons and to protect individuals' privacy, we will ask for proof of identification with any request that is made.
4. There will be no charge for requesting access to your personal information, but we may ask that you to cover our reasonable costs to actually provide you with access.
5. Please include your contact details in the written request as well as proof of identification.

13 CORRECTION OF PERSONAL INFORMATION

1. Gamuda takes reasonable steps to ensure that all personal information collected and held by it, is accurate, complete and up-to-date.
2. You may request that we correct any of the personal information that we hold about you, to ensure that having regard to the purpose for which we hold it, the information is correct, accurate, complete, it is not out-of-date, irrelevant and not misleading. This request must be made in writing to the Privacy Officer Gamuda using the contact details below. The request must clearly set out the errors or inaccuracies and outline what must be changed or corrected.
3. There is no charge associated with the making of a request. In some circumstances, there may be a valid reason for us to deny your request to correct your information. If we do this, we will tell you why.

14 COMPLAINTS

1. If you think we have breached the Privacy Act, or you wish to make a complaint about the way we have handled your personal information or a request from you to access or correct your personal information. Please include your name, email address and telephone number and clearly describe your complaint. Complaints may be submitted to the Privacy Officer at Gamuda in writing and should clearly set out the issues and concerns to be investigated by Gamuda. Complaints will be investigated by the General Counsel of Gamuda (Australia) Branch and the outcome of the investigation will be communicated to you as soon as we can do so.

- If you are not satisfied with the outcome of any internal investigation we conduct, you may lodge a complaint with the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC) at enquiries@oaic.gov.au or on 1300 363 992.
